Headteacher's Message

Happy Friday! I can't believe how quickly these weeks seem to be flying by and how quickly we are edging towards Christmas. Today we have dressed up in yellow to raise awareness of World Mental Health Day which was on Thursday. By dressing up in yellow, we promote an understanding of mental health throughout school through workshops, activities and open discussions. We also raise money for YoungMinds a charity who is the UK's leading charity committed to improving the emotional wellbeing and mental health of children and young people. They campaign, research and influence policy and practice. Well done to all the children and staff for promoting this important issue.

What we love about ourselves

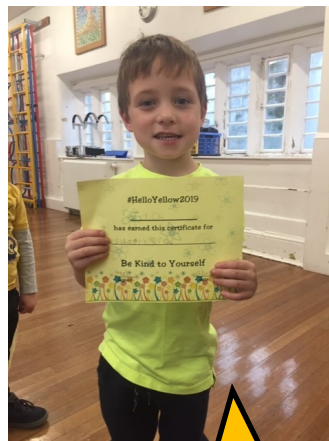

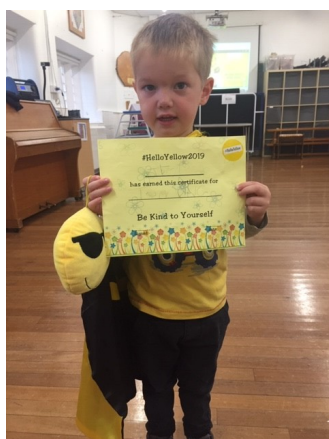

Sometimes children can be far too critical of themselves and try to live up to unrealistic self-given expectations.

We started off our day by presenting ourself with a certificate given to our-self by our-self. We spend some time reflecting on what we thought were some of our excellent qualities and then celebrated these in Good Work Assembly.

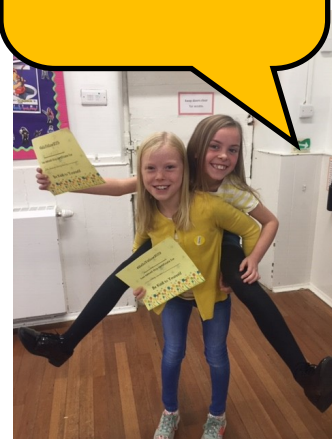

"I am good at loving my little sister"

"I am good at flying a kite"

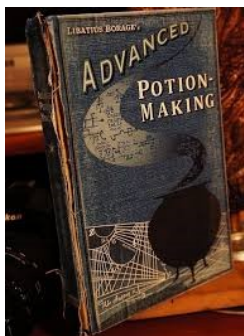

"I am good at being a superhero"

"I am good at being smiley" and "I am good at being kind to others"

THRESHFIELD SCHOOL OF WITCHCRAFT AND WIZARDARY.

We hope everyone is excited about the opening of Threshfield's School of Witchcraft and Wizardry on Friday 25th October. The children will need to come dressed in their Wizard or Witch robes and get ready for some fun, filled lessons.
