Acting Headteacher's Message

The sun is shining—horray!

Although the week has been wet and cold, the wonderful pupils of Threshfield continue to shine for all of us. Thank you, once again, to you all for all your hard work and effort; it does not go unnoticed. Even though we are apart, we are all in this together and seeing everyone's faces in Celebration Assembly reminds us just how lucky we are. Have a lovely weekend.

The Acorns

As part of our Winter topic we have been exploring migration. We enjoyed the stories about the Storm whale and created our own whales out of paper plates. The children have been working hard on their letter formation this week and I have been delighted with the progress! We are continuing to explore rhyme and we wrote sentences following the story Oi Frog! and Oi Dog! Well done for super listening in the zoom sessions this week.

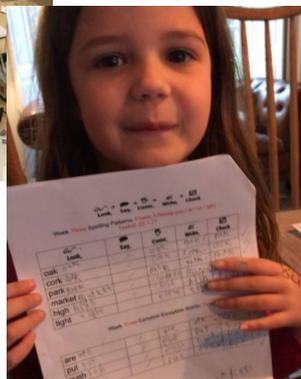

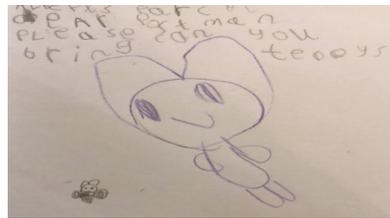

The Saplings

What a week it has been. Myself and Mrs Appleton have been blown away with the continued effort of the children in Saplings class. It has been lovely to see how the children have been getting on, especially hearing about some of the independent learning that has been going on at home, as well as seeing all the ways that children are engaging with their learning at home and at school. I have been impressed with all the other things that the children have achieved this week, from cooking dinner for their families to walking or running long distances. I would like to take this opportunity to also thank all the adults and siblings that have supported and encouraged the children this week. Finally, I have given quite a lot of feedback on learning this week and it has been fantastic to see people taking this on board and using it to move their learning forward.

The Seedlings

In History we have continued to learn about the huge event that devastated London in 1666; the Great Fire of London! The children produced some incredibly detailed storyboards to illustrate the event. We have looked at three stories in English all to do with the wild and I am looking forward to studying the books more over the next couple of weeks. The children also had their first Science lesson on zoom and the work that was then produced has delighted Mrs Whitaker. 3 cheers for the Seedlings!

The Oaks

The wintry weather last week proved to be the perfect inspiration for our poems describing the weather cycle. We truly have some fantastic poets and budding photographers amongst us. Now our attention has turned to analysing and writing endings for very short suspense stories with a twist, with considerable success. 'Draw with Rob' is proving to be very popular with The Oaks and parents alike - we certainly are a talented bunch. Great work everyone; give yourselves a pat on the back.
